Dear Parents and Carers,

Book Jacket Competition!

It is World Book Day next week and unfortunately this year we won't all be in school to celebrate it. However, we would like to mark the occasion with a book jacket competition (and other fun activities on the day). We would like the children to design and create their very own 'book jacket' – not a normal book jacket, but a raw potato decorated to look like a book character!! Here are some examples:

If your child would like to enter the competition, they need to decorate a potato and send a photo of it to their teacher via Class Dojo on Thursday 4th March. The potatoes will then be judged by Miss Walker and a representative from each year group. The winner and the runner up from each class will receive a prize!

Thank you for your continued support.

Yours sincerely,

Mr Parkinson
